Experience.

Carl "Andy" Pforzheimer, seeking his second 4-year term, is the most experienced member of the Board of Finance, where he's respected for his leadership and no partisan perspective.

A 19-year resident of Wilton, Andy is a Harvard graduate, known not only for his intelligence but also for his ability to work with everyone. His experience has given him a firm grasp of financial details and an in-depth knowledge of Town operations. Andy has a proven record of helping to balance the Town's resources and needs for the benefit of our community.

Andy owns six Barcelona restaurants in Connecticut, with 250 employees. He brings this kind of perspective and business acumen to the Board of Finance.

Andy and his wife Zelig will be honored for their community work next month by the Wilton YMCA as Distinguished Citizens of the year. He has served on the Wilton Library Board.

Their three children have all attended Wilton's schools, and now his 86- and 89-year old in-laws live in Town as well.

Commitment.

Pforzheimer Stroup
Board of Finance

Wilton needs the most competent financial professionals managing the Town's business on the Board of Finance. We need people who have long demonstrated their commitment to the community – people who really know the Town.

Andy Pforzheimer and Chris Stroup each bring their own unique strengths and perspectives to the Board of Finance. They also have important qualities in common.

Andy and Chris are both accomplished business leaders. They're both founders and chief executives of their own successful enterprises, with experience building and managing their businesses everyday. And both Andy and Chris are longtime residents of Wilton, with years of civic volunteer work, while raising families here with children in the public schools.

Trust.

Chris Stroup is chairman and chief executive of Wilton RE, a major financial firm. Chris is a graduate of the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania and the Columbia University Graduate School of Business.

A registered unaffiliated voter, Chris chose to run for Board of Finance on the Democratic slate, seeking to foster fresh approaches to the challenges facing the town today and tomorrow, including more long-term planning.

His concern for our Town's seniors is matched by his dedication to its families and its students. The Wilton public schools were a key factor when Chris and his wife chose to move here 15 years ago, and their two children attend the public schools.

A respected community leader, Chris has served as the Wilton Congregational Church Chair of the Board of Trustees and Chair of the Board of Governors of the Wilton Children's Center. Now he is excited about the prospect of serving the Town on the Board of Finance.
